

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A catheter unit comprising an elbowed catheter having an insert section capable of being inserted into the body cavity and an elbow section and a winged catheter capable of being attached to the elbowed catheter so as to cover the insert section of the elbowed catheter. The two catheters are introduced into the body cavity by utilizing the bending function and fixed in the body cavity by means of a wing portion attached to the winged catheter.